

Thermaltake DH202 series HTPC - DH series new comer - Press Release

Written by Administrator

Thursday, 19 March 2009 12:56 - Last Updated Tuesday, 12 May 2009 16:12

Nowadays, HTPC has become the multimedia center or furnishing in living room. As one leading brand in the industry, Thermaltake is releasing the upgraded model, DH202 today, offering stylish appearance to fulfill the home theater builders' demands in the HTPC market.

Thermaltake DH202 series HTPC - DH series new comer - Press Release

Written by Administrator

Thursday, 19 March 2009 12:56 - Last Updated Tuesday, 12 May 2009 16:12

The DH202 is beautifully designed with high quality piano coating exterior, the surface of the aluminum front panel has also carefully applied with brush process. With such advance technology integrated, DH 202 will surely be the focus in the living room.

DH202 series can be install with a VFD module, and the DH202 Touch is designed with the latest and hottest 7 inch Touch Screen front LCD display, bringing all the media function controls easy and fast at user's fingertips. The 7" LCD display of DH202 does not only support Touch screen functions, but with the latest software and double screen displaying technology, users can easily control media functions such as music, movie, and photos, plus information like daily news, weather, PC status and E-mail can all be easily shown on the LCD display with internet connection. This revolutionary LCD display has build-in Media Lab, plus the 10 hot key buttons and the easy volume control knob at the front panel, DH Series is bringing the Home Theater experience to a brand new era.

DH 202 Home Theater PC Chassis will definitely be the best choice to build your own digital living environment with high-tech fashion and aesthetic elegance.

Thermaltake Office Web Page: __ DH202